New Yorker Held In Plot To Kill Nixon

Blames 'Pro-Rightists' In Death Of Wife

NEW YORK (AP) — Andrew B. Topping, who blames the recent death of his wife on "pro-rightist forces," was held in $500,000 bail today on charges of threatening and attempting to kill President Nixon.

Topping, 27, was seized in Central Park Friday after allegedly paying $1,000 to a Secret Service agent posing as a killer for hire. Topping reportedly told the agent he hoped the assassination would come by early next week.

Federal officials said the charge of knowingly attempting to kill the President carries a maximum sentence of life imprisonment. Conviction for threatening the President's life can bring a sentence of up to five years and a $1,000 fine.

Asst. U.S. Atty. William B. Gray said Topping was under a routine investigation after requesting an appointment with Nixon when a man claiming to know Topping told the Secret Service that the suspect had tried to enlist his help in finding someone to kill the President.

Gray said an undercover agent, Stewart J. Henry, met with Topping Thursday night and then again Friday at the Central Park Boat Basin where Topping allegedly paid the money.

Mrs. Topping suffered gunshot wounds in their Manhattan apartment on July 6, two days after their son was born, and died several days later. Her death was declared a suicide but her husband was charged with possession of unregistered weapons.

Detective Peter Book, who made the weapons arrest, said Topping told him that "prorightist forces beyond his control" caused his wife's death. Topping described himself as a self-employed investment dealer. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, police said, and had recently taken graduate courses at Columbia University.

Cornerstone To Be Laid On Sunday

Lutheran School Will Also Install Faculty Member

A delayed cornerstone-laying ceremony will be held at 3 p.m. Sunday at the new Michigan Lutheran high school building in Royalton township, south of the Twin Cities.

The service for Wisconsin Synod Lutherans of southwestern Michigan will also serve as the occasion for installation of the school's fifth full-time faculty member, Norbert Manthe.

According to school and church officials, the cornerstone laying has been intentionally delayed past the normal stage so that building hazards would be at a minimum and the road and parking lot would be usable.

Plans call for the classroom section to be ready for occupancy with the start of September's school opening.

Pastor Henry Peter of St. Paul's Lutheran church in Sodus, chairman of the school's board of regents, will conduct the cornerstone ceremony and the teacher installation rite. Pastor Kermit Biedenbender of St. Matthew's church in Benton Harbor, secretary of the board of regents, will be speaker for the service.

A massed chorus composed of singers from area Wisconsin synod congregations will sing under direction of Kenneth Nolte, principal of Grace Lutheran school, St. Joseph.

The Festival Singers, composed of students from the school also will sing, directed by Teacher Ronald Page.

Refreshments will be served after the service for persons who want to tour the building.

Beginning its third year of operation, the high school will add the eleventh grade as it moves into the new classroom wing in September. The 12th grade is to be added the following year. School officials said between 90 and 100 students are anticipated in the new school year. Enrollment in the two grades last year was 58.

The construction program is under the direction of a seven-man building committee, headed by Pastor Herbert Kusko of St. Paul's church, Stevensville. Other members are: James Guse, Benton

Wife Listens As Cabbie Mate Dispatched To Die

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—Taxi dispatcher Debbie Emery sat by her microphone Friday night and listened as her driver-husband was sent to meet a fare, unaware he was being sent to pick up his killer, police said.

Officers said Marvin Emery, 32, was found slumped over the wheel of his cab in the middle of an intersection, the transmission in neutral and his foot jamming the accelerator to the floor.

F. M. Williams, night cashier at Safety Cab Co., said one of Mrs. Emery's companion dispatchers took a call at about 9 p.m. and was asked that a cab be sent to a restaurant in a southwest suburban business section.

The call was relayed to her husband in Cab 19.

Mrs. Emery, about 25, learned that her husband had been shot when another cab passed the shooting scene and radioed that the driver in Cab 19 had been hurt, Williams said. Horror stricken, she rushed to the hospital.

Another dispatcher at the cab office reported originally that Mrs. Emery had personally taken the call for a cab that sent her husband to his death.

Williams said the couple met at the cab company several years ago when Emery joined the firm as a driver. Mrs. Emery, an attractive brunette, has worked for the company as a dispatcher and telephone operator for nearly 10 years, he said.

After being married two years ago, Williams said, "they arranged their schedule to be on at the same time. He drove and she worked the board."

They were the parents of a one-year-old son, he said.

A spokesman for the Jacksonville Police Department said Emery's last ride only took him about a half-mile from the restaurant to the place where he was shot. His billfold was missing, officers said. A $20 bill was found lying in a puddle beside the taxi, and a few feet away police found an opened pocketknife.

"There was no sign of a struggle," the police spokesman said. "All we can figure now is that someone robbed him, then killed him."

Area residents found Emery, shot in the temple, after the engine roared for about 20 minutes and brought curious people out to see what was happening, police said.

One of the people who found Emery told officers they saw no one else near the taxi. A bystander finally opened the taxi's hood and silenced the racing engine by disconnecting the sparkplug wires.

Police said Emery died in St. Vincent's Hospital at 11:35 p.m., about two hours after he was shot.

Peace Statement Called 'Political Fantasy' Shriver Blasted By Rogers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers says he can find no evidence that Democratic vice presidential nominee Sargent Shriver ever told President Nixon he was wasting a historic chance for a Vietnam peace.

"If there was such a historic opportunity, let me say Mr. Shriver was miraculously quiet about it," Rogers said Friday. "This is not really a fabrication. It is just political fantasy."

At a news conference prior to his departure for Miami to testify before the Republican National Convention's Platform Committee, Rogers responded to Shriver's earlier assertions that Nixon "blew" a peace-making opportunity.

Told of Rogers' remarks, a spokesman for Shriver said the candidate would have no further comment. "Mr. Shriver stands by his earlier statement. His position has not changed," the spokesman said.

Rogers also lambasted Ramsey Clark, a former attorney general in the Johnson administration. Radio Hanoi quoted Clark, who is visiting North Vietnam, as calling for an end to U.S. bombing.

Rogers, an attorney general himself during the Eisenhower administration, said of Clark, "To hear him on Radio Hanoi was contemptible, particularly at a time when American men are flying over there and losing their lives."

Shriver told newsmen Thursday that he quit as U.S. ambassador to France in 1970 after Nixon "blew" a historic opportunity to stop the Vietnam war.

Shriver went to Paris in 1968 during the Johnson administration. The full-fledged peace talks got under way there in January 1969 as President Nixon came into office. Nixon asked Shriver to stay on.

As ambassador to France, Shriver was not in charge of the U.S. negotiating team in Paris. Rogers said he has checked all available statements Shriver made at the time of his departure from Paris in 1970 and found no reference by Shriver then to the peace

NAACP Chief Asks Blacks To Open Drive On Crime

Among today's Letters to the Editor on this page is one from Herschel McKenzie, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. It is a forceful letter, to the point. In it, McKenzie declares that black communities (like Benton Harbor) must curb crime if they are going to grow economically.

"We have to stand together and stamp out the parasites who call us Brother to our faces, then rob us blind when our backs are turned," the local NAACP president declares.

It is encouraging that McKenzie, a black man, recognizes crime is an indiscriminating predator. Crime favors neither black nor white; it destroys the chance of a decent life for both.

Benton Harbor's Mayor Charles Joseph, also black, repeatedly has warned his constituents that crime must be reduced to revitalize Benton Harbor's economy. Ten days ago, this newspaper said the same thing editorially.

Business vitality is not all that is involved, of course. Crime destroys the very quality of life in a community, starting the cycle that drives business away. Most victimized by crime, perhaps, are the elderly. Their life is one of perplexed pathos when it should be a time of well-earned relaxation. Many put their life savings into small homes. Others, less fortunate, manage to find quarters in public housing to ease the heavy financial burden of no longer being a part in the day-to-day employment that provides regular income.

They prefer to keep active via adult education, reading seminars, arts and crafts, volunteer charity work. However, more and more report they are prisoners in their own houses or apartments—afraid to go out day or night for fear of being assaulted physically. And, according to testimony before a congressional subcommittee, many live in terror of being raped, mugged, tortured and robbed within their own homes. They are easy prey.

One inescapable fact about high crime rate communities is that, most of all, the people of the community suffer. Not only are they the nearest and easiest victims for criminals within their midst, but their future—and their children's future—is stunted by the blight that surrounds them. Not because it's aimed that way, but simply because of proximity, black crime hurts blacks most.

Benton Harbor is the geographic hub of bountiful Southwestern Michigan. Until a decade ago, it was the manufacturing and retail center, too. Also the cultural and sports capital. It can be all these things again if, its citizens follow the call of responsible leaders like McKenzie and Mayor Joseph to stamp out the high crime rates that are blighting the city's present.

Still Gold In Them Alaskan Boondocks

Back in 1867 William Henry Seward, Secretary of State, negotiated the purchase of Alaska from Russia for $7,200,000. The price of this 586,400 square miles of distant, unknown territory figured out to less than two cents an acre.

Americans roundly accused Seward of having lost his faculties and of buying a pig in a poke. They dubbed the acquisition Seward's Icebox.

Seward was not interested in economics, but in the political fact of the foreign ownership representing a threat to the Monroe Doctrine.

The first comprehension of the territory's material worth came in 1898 when Felix Pedro turned over a rock and found a pure gold pellet underneath it.

His discovery prompted the celebrated Alaskan Gold Rush and put the indistinguishable fishing village of Nome on the map.

Few prospectors gained more than an acquaintance with life in a rugged terrain. The territory's gold production had to wait upon mechanized mining which could turn a profit from processing a ton of rock for a few ounces of the world's most precious metal.

Alaska's gold industry, however, went dormant three decades ago because of the world price staying pegged to the U.S. official purchasing price of $35 an ounce. The Russian and South African miners could make money at that level, but not the Alaskan producer.

Today the word from Nome is that the tide could run again.

The world gold market has been dancing wildly of late.

Currency speculators skeptical of Uncle Sam being able to restore the dollar's prestige have been driving up the price and industry is turning more and more to the metal's versatility. Its extreme malleability and resistance to corrosion literally causes an inch of gold to stretch a mile for industrial applications.

Presently the world market price is $65, about $5 off from its latest peak, but the feeling persists this quotation will rebound.

If it does, Charles Herbert, a former miner now Alaska's Commissioner of Natural Resources, thinks gold mining will return to the 49th state.

If the price hangs at $75 an ounce, he told reporters this week, some of the large operators will think seriously about exploring for new deposits and reworking older ones.

This would be the search for the yellow stuff in its own right.

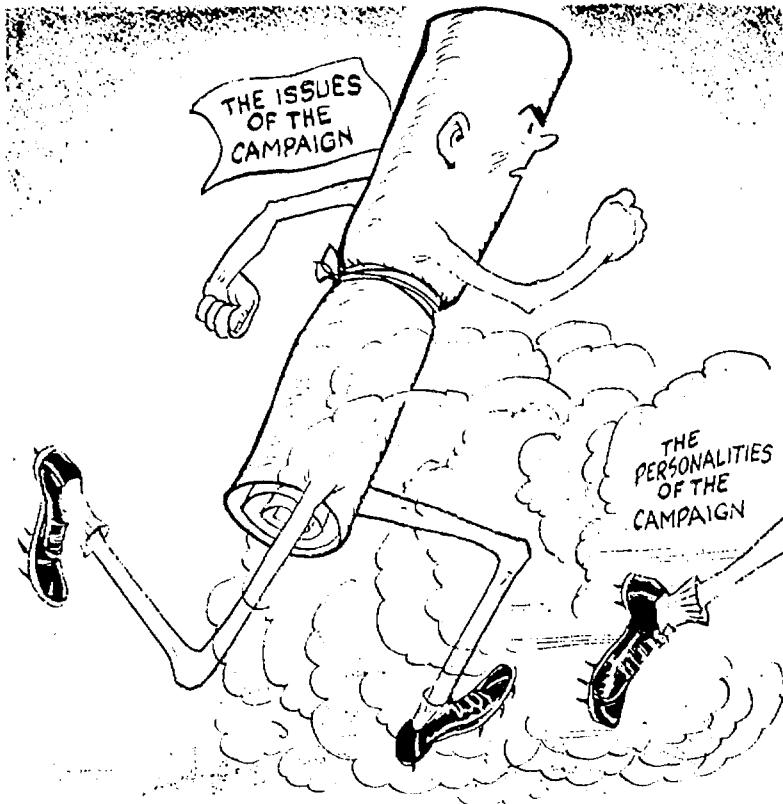

U.S. gold production, such as it is, is a byproduct of refining material in which lesser metals are the prime target. Copper is a primary example of this output. Many copper deposits contain traces of silver and gold.

The Nome area is regarded as the most fruitful possibility in Alaska, both on and offshore in the frightening Bering Sea.

Herbert, though, is not trumpeting the call for a second Alaskan Gold Rush. It will still require a large investment in heavy equipment to develop the fields and Alaska's return to sizeable production is forecasted for the 1980's, not today.

In the meanwhile gravel will continue to be the state's biggest money crop from mining.

BLACK CRIME IS NOT BEAUTIFUL

Editor,
If our black communities have realistic plans to improve living conditions, one thing is perhaps more important than anything else.

Our black communities need to grow. By growing, I don't mean in population, or in area. Our communities must begin to grow economically. The reason for economic growth is simple. We must establish and attract business to our communities. But, to attract New Business, we are faced with some nasty, old business we have to take care of first. The business of curbing crime in our communities. We must all begin to give greater respect to law and justice, and stop remaining silent when we see it being broken.

We must stop excusing black crime, and turning our eyes away from it when we see it happening. Black robbing and extorting from black business or any business is not beautiful. We need to weed out that insidious element from our neighborhoods, soon. We have to stand together and stamp out the parasites who call us brother to our faces, then rob us blind when our backs are turned.

I simply can't believe that crime is the result of years of deprivation and oppression. If so, why aren't we all stealing and killing? Let us stand strong against crime, all of us. When we do, we will make our neighborhoods far more attractive to business, which, in turn, will create more jobs, reduce insurance rates, and add millions of dollars to our spendable income.

Consider for a moment: Can crime do as much for all of us? Herschel McKenzie, President Local Branch NAACP Benton Harbor.

RESENTS ATTACK ON BIRCH SOCIETY

Editor,
My feelings were stepped on too in Mr. Daniel C. Brant's recent attack on Shirley Stinson, Erma Collier and the John Birch Society.

Mr. Brant would have us believe that Soviet Russia became a world power many, many years ago — "Before either one of us could ever hope to recall!" and that the John Birch Society advocates war with all the Communist countries of the world.

Point one: The origin of the USSR is certainly within my recollection and the repeated failures of the "Five Year Plans" were objects of study when I went to school. I remember the Food for Peace projects of Herbert Hoover in the 1920's and the recognition of the USSR by the Roosevelt administration. Further, I

Four Money Bills Signed By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has signed four appropriations bills, but the White House has hinted that he might veto another major money measure that is more than a billion dollars higher than his budget.

A White House spokesman said Friday that the President would review the $30.5 billion health, education, welfare and labor appropriations measure approved by the Senate Thursday. It is $1.7 billion higher than Nixon's budget request.

Spokesmen said Nixon has not made a final decision on whether to veto the measure, but they referred to his previous warning that he would veto bills that greatly exceed his budget.

The bills signed Friday by the President appropriated $2.547 billion for fiscal 1973 operations of the Interior Department and other agencies; authorized $703.9 million for the National Science Foundation; $610 million for continuing work on the Upper Colorado River Basin, and $114 million for completion of work in the Missouri River Basin.

Corvairs Safe, Officials Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government agency has told owners of 1960-63 Corvairs that no safety defects have been found in the car's handling and stability performance.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration Friday mailed over 170,000 letters to owners of the Chevrolet car informing them of government test results.

Singlemindedness

May Be Liability

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Having picked Sargent Shriver for his new running mate, Sen. George McGovern turns with relief to the direct business of campaigning. Yet, what follows may prove no more comforting to him than did the Eagleton affair and other early summer happenings.

First off, a political candidacy is like a political party: nothing that happens to it can be wholly wiped away and forgotten. There is an unbreakable continuity. Everything McGovern does from here on will be seen and judged against the backdrop of the "mess" he waded into after winning nomination in early July.

Secondly, there is another kind of continuity. He has a new vice-presidential nominee, but it's the same McGovern and the same staff. And a key question will be whether, in the three months from now until election day, they behave in the same disjointed way they did in July—and even June.

Admittedly, the dumping of Thomas Eagleton was a traumatic and time-consuming thing for McGovern and his aides. Nevertheless, it may be a confession of serious limitation to say of that trying period, as one aide did, that "everything just came to a halt."

It has a familiar ring. Only a short time ago, the McGovern people were saying about the same thing to explain why they had no time to weigh vice presidential prospects more carefully in Miami Beach. Then, the plea was that they had been totally distracted by the anti-McGovern challenge to the senator's California delegates.

Before Miami Beach, McGovern's men were saying they got caught short on the California challenge in the June Credentials Committee hearings because they had been concentrating on the June 20 New York primary and other delegate-chasing field endeavors.

The disconcerting continuity suggested by these developments is a confessed inability to handle more than one big problem at a time. Singlemindedness can be useful—and necessary. It can also be crippling.

Election campaigns are inevitably multifaceted affairs. They afford no comfort to any candidate who imagines he can win the presidency by traveling a single great route, like mounting a massive registration drive or dazzling the voters with superb media effort.

Nobody should have to stress again the common judgement that a fall campaigner needs everybody he can get—not just the dedicated ideologues and the limited support he used to win the nomination.

You become nominee by beating your party rivals. You need to embrace most of them to gain the presidency.

McGovern and some of his top advisers know this. So far, however, they are having difficulty practicing the many-sided politics of accommodation. The rejections he got from Hubert Humphrey, Edmund Muskie and others before choosing Shriver underscore his trouble.

Greek Colonels Or Alternative?

Ever since their coup d'etat in 1967, it had been an article of the liberal faith that the Greek colonels are fascist beasts, characters out of the Movie "Z," fit objects of detestation for all right-thinking men. George McGovern's recent statement that if he is elected he will promptly cancel all aid to the Papadopoulos regime accurately reflected this attitude. And yet the reasons for the animus remain somewhat mysterious.

David Holden, chief foreign correspondent for the London Sunday Times, has just published a book on Greece called "Greece Without Columns" which will be released here shortly by Lipincott. Holden is a liberal and he is certainly no great fan of the colonels, but he has spent a lot of time in Greece and his book is a useful corrective to the prevailing attitude. He points out that the colonels' coup was actually bloodless—at least in part because the incumbent political establishment had so thoroughly discredited itself. The colonels did not destroy parliamentary democracy in Athens. Rather, the thing had lost all its credibility.

Furthermore, the colonels' regime is anything but unique in character.

"The authoritarian style," writes Holden, "was more typical than the preceding parliamentary system had been of the prevailing trend in other countries with similar historical, economic and social weaknesses." If Sen. McGovern is to cut off aid to every authoritarian regime, his list will be a long one.

Like all such regimes, the colonels have political prisoners, but even here their record looks better than many: "Most of the 7,000 people originally arrested were released within the first year. . . Within three years, the number of prisoners held on political charges of one kind or another was down to about 1,000—roughly the same as at the end of the Karamanlis regime."

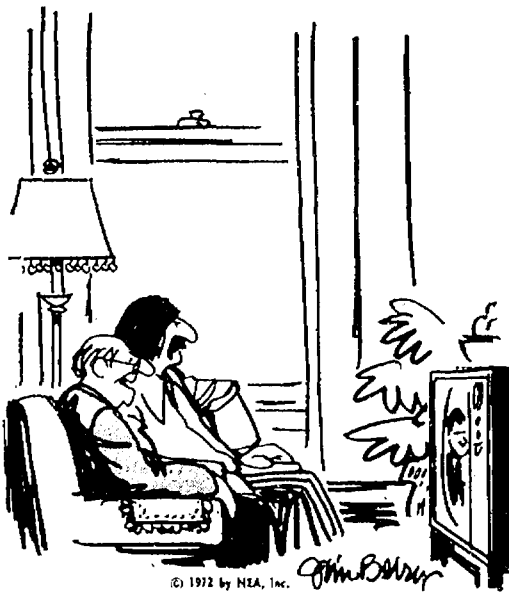

Much has been heard about the regime's use of torture, but Holden has sifted the evidence, and he concludes that though the police have sometimes behaved brutally, such behavior is far from novel in Greece, whatever the regime in power.

What emerges from Holden's account is an authoritarian regime rather better than most others of the same kind and holding power because the available alternatives were and are politically bankrupt. The opposition in exile, for example, has still not coalesced around a leader or a credible program.

SING SUNDAY IN ST. JOE: The Omegan Youth Choir from the Buchanan Church of Christ will sing Sunday at the 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. St. Joseph Municipal band concerts. The 30-voice choir is three years old and has logged over 4,000 miles in singing appearances in five midwest states.

SJ Concert To Feature Youth Choir

Buchanan 'Omegans' Will Appear Sunday

Return of a popular Buchanan youth choir and an instrumental program featuring marches will mark the St. Joseph Municipal band concert Sunday.

The concerts are scheduled for 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. in the bandshell located on the bluff overlooking the St. Joseph harbor on Port street near Lake boulevard.

The Omegan Youth choir of the Buchanan Church of Christ will appear at both concerts. The Omegans are a choir of young people, all high school age, who have been singing in a five state area for the past three years. Their latest adventure was attending the North American Christian convention in Cincinnati. The Omegans were selected from 50

Among the selections to 30-voice choir will sing are: "I Believe," "This Land is Your Land," "Moses," and "Oh! Happy Day."

Accompanying the group will be Mrs. Joe Johnson at the piano, Tom Townsend on the bass guitar, Cindy Farm on the flute, Karen Johnson on the trumpet, Henry Riley on the drums and Rhonda Pollard with tamborines and bongos. The choir is under the direction of Mrs. George Merrill and will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Quick and George Merrill, youth sponsors of the group.

Municipal band director John E. N. Howard said the band's instrumental portion of the concert offers traditional music in von Suppe's overture to "The Poet and the Peasant" and John Philip Sousa's tuneful march, "The Black Horse Troop."

"Brazilian Festival" offers a chance for the band and especially the percussion section to be busy with "The Girl from Ipanema," "Quiet Nights of Quiet Stars" and "One Note Samba."

"Fandango" from Spain and "Irish Salute" and other marches give an international flavor to this week's concert according to Howard.

Alleged Dare-To-Be-Great Agents Accused

Five Named In Contempt Charge

Berrien Prosecutor Ronald J. Taylor started contempt of court proceedings Friday against five alleged distributors of motivational Dare To Be Great kits in Berrien county.

Taylor filed petitions in Berrien Circuit court asking the five to appear at a hearing Monday to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court for continuing "to solicit, sell and promote" Dare To Be Great. The hearing is scheduled for 3:30 p.m. in the court of Judge William S. White.

White issued a temporary restraining order July 21 prohibiting representatives and agents of Dare To Be Great from promoting courses and distributorships pending an Aug. 29 hearing.

The five alleged Dare to Be Great agents listed in the show cause petition are Clarence Pritchard, Charles Hayton, Kathleen Dell'Andrea, Charles King and Carl Post. They allegedly have been promoting distributorships, according to Andrew Novikoff, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office.

Dare To Be Great is one of three companies of Glen W. Turner, a Florida businessman, which allegedly sponsor sales of motivational courses and kits for $1,000.

Last week, Taylor warned agents of Dare To Be Great distributorships that continued promotion invited contempt of court proceedings.

Accompanying the show cause petitions Friday was an affidavit by John C. Gillespie, an investigator with the prosecutor's office, stating that he was solicited to buy a Dare

To Be Great distributorship. Gillespie contends he was approached by alleged agents of the company, and was told that "he could become wealthy in a short time." A meeting on Tuesday was followed by a bus trip to Ann Arbor on Wednesday as representatives continued to promote the motivational distributorships, according to the affidavit.

Play Phonegrams When Visiting Youth Fair

Phonegrams will be played at the Palladium Publishing Co.'s booth at the Berrien county Youth Fair Tuesday through Saturday. Phonegrams is the word-game contest this paper is currently sponsoring.

The contest will be played using the same rules as those used in this paper's contest, except the game can only be played at the fair.

Contest forms will be handed out at the fair from the Palladium Publishing Co.'s booth. The object of the game will be to make the most words possible while still at the fair. The form is then turned back in to the booth that same day.

Anyone making a word will be a winner of a Schaefer ballpoint pen worth about $1. The person having made the most words in one day will receive an AM-FM transistor radio worth about $25. Prizes will be given away all five days of the fair.

Prefers 'Other Channels'

Court Action 'Shocks' Judge

Fifth District court Judge John T. Hammond expressed "shock" Friday that the Berrien county prosecutor's office asked for an order in circuit court compelling district judges to comply with the Michigan 10 per cent bail deposit act.

"We have never refused to allow the act to be implemented in any case to which it applies," Hammond asserted. "If the prosecutor's office feels we are not doing something we should be doing, then why don't they come and ask us to do it."

On Thursday, Fifth District court judges and the Berrien sheriff's department were instructed by Circuit Judge Chester J. Byrns to accept 10 per cent bail deposit from persons accused of misdemeanors and traffic offenses.

The ruling came in response to a suit filed against the Berrien sheriff's department by a migrant laborer who was not allowed to post $10 on his $100 bail set for two traffic offenses. Assistant Prosecutor Edward Skinner defended Berrien Sheriff Forrest "Nick" Jewell and agreed the act was legal, and then asked Byrns to require all district judges to comply with it.

District judges are aware of the 10 per cent bail deposit act and have never refused to allow it, Hammond said. "We may not be happy with it, but the prosecutor's office could have given us the courtesy of notifying us about broadening the suit."

Hammond pointed out he wasn't disagreeing with the circuit court order or blasting the sheriff's department. But district judges did deserve to be notified about the suit and the matter could probably have been handled through other channels, he added.

The weather finally cleared for night competition and horse show officials expressed the feeling that the rain may have been a blessing in disguise as it settled the dust around the track of the main grandstand at the fairgrounds.

Dowagiac Schools Will Open Sept. 5

DOWAGIAC — Dowagiac public school students will have their first day of school Tuesday, Sept. 5, negotiators for Dowagiac school board and Dowagiac Education association decided last night in an unusual public negotiating session.

About 35 spectators were present for the meeting, which opened with criticism of Dr. Robert Boggs, school superintendent, by Sam Schpok, chairman of the board's negotiators.

Schpok criticized Boggs, who reportedly is on vacation, for not being present at the meeting.

Schpok led a movement at the board's Monday night meeting to appoint Boggs as the board's chief negotiator, to replace board member William Maxey. Boggs requested he not be given the appointment, saying that hard negotiations with the teachers would affect his relationship with them. Boggs was upheld by a tie vote of the board.

Schpok said Boggs had agreed to be available for negotiations, and appeared to be irritated with the superintendent last night. Present to advise Schpok on the administration's viewpoints were Dexter Clough, assistant superintendent, and Robert Cripe, business manager.

The first day of school for teachers, the negotiators decided, will be Friday, Sept. 1. Christmas vacation will begin after school Thursday, Dec. 21, and end Jan. 2. Spring vacation will be held the week of April 15 through 22.

Elementary school parent-teacher conferences will be held all day the days of Oct. 26 and 27. There will be no elementary school those days.

Director Search Begins

SOUTH HAVEN — The South Haven housing commission started its search for a new executive director during a special meeting last night.

The commission reduced the number of applicants from 55 to nine and scheduled personal interviews over the next two weeks with those still in contention for the full-time position. The job has been vacant since April, when Ronald Booth resigned.

The commission elected officers to serve through October, when the annual election will be held. The election was necessitated by the recent resignation of Chairman Mrs. Ernest Mosley.

Tom Renner was elected chairman, new member Herman Friedman was selected vice-chairman and Miss Carol Jensen was re-elected secretary.

Cass Democrats Must Hold 2nd Convention

CASSOPOLIS — Sixteen delegates to the fall Democratic state convention were elected last night at what was intended to be the fall convention of the Cass county Democratic party.

However, a scheduling snafu will require Cass delegates to reconvene Aug. 17 for the real fall convention of the Cass county Democrats and for legal ratification of action taken last night.

According to Richard Grabemeyer, Cass county Democratic party chairman, the extra meeting is necessary because state party officials instructed county parties to hold their conventions this weekend, whereas state law requires that the county conventions be held between Aug. 15-26.

Therefore, Grabemeyer said, action taken last night must be ratified at another convention on or after Aug. 16.

The fall state convention will be held Aug. 26 and 27 in Grand Rapids.

Berrien county Democrats will hold their convention tonight, then recess until Aug. 26 and reconvene to comply with the legal dates, according to James Keller, county chairman. Keller said the county organization was misinformed by the state central committee.

Cass delegates elected from geographical areas were Mrs. Aremetha Jackson, Dowagiac; George Hunter, Wayne township; Mrs. Roberta McCoo, Penn township; John Raber, Porter township; Barry Kantz, Ontwa township; Herbert Rossellit, Milton township; Mrs. Julia Rae Nardini, Howard township; and Grabemeyer, Silver Creek township.

At-large delegates are Paul Caruso, James Holloway, Iven Kelley, Johnnie Rodebush, Mrs. Lucy Spaulding, Mrs. Janet Smith and Steve Toth.

Alternates elected were Mrs. Marjorie Rodebush, Mrs. Myrtle Raber, Alex Federowski, and Gerald Smith.

In other business, the convention nominated two candidates for each of three state convention committees. Nominated were Rossellit and Mrs. Smith, rules committee; Gerald Smith and Mrs. Nardini, credentials committee; and Mrs. McCoo and Federowski, resolutions committee. — Delegates approved two resolutions one calling for simplification of voting registration procedure, and the second urging that parents of hearing-impaired children be represented at all levels of government.

The convention endorsed the candidacies of Donna

O'Donohue of Harbert, Berrien county, and Mrs. Nancy Waters of Muskegon for the MSU board of trustees.

Keynote speaker last night was Floyd Mattheussen of Benton Harbor, former state representative from the old 44th district.

Vote Monday Lawton Will On Millage

LAWTON — A proposal to add two mills to the property tax rate in the Lawton school district goes to a vote here Monday.

If passed, the two additional mills will result in about $30,000 additional revenue for school operation each year for the next three years. Operational millage in the district now stands at 22.68 mills.

The board says it needs the additional money just to maintain its programs at last year's level. It contemplates adding no new courses or teaching positions.

In the past two years the board has dipped into reserves. With those reserves now almost depleted, it maintains it must either cut back school programs or ask for more millage.

The most recent millage approved in the district was 12 mills, voted in 1971 to run for four years. The remaining voted millage, two mills, was approved in 1970 to run through 1972.

Milliken Week Will Be Busy

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William G. Milliken's schedule calls for him to cover many miles next week before settling down in Miami Beach, Fla., for the start of the Republican national convention.

Milliken, spending this weekend at Mackinac Island, is due to make stepping-stone hops by plane to a tiny Wisconsin island in Lake Superior, the Upper Peninsula State Fair at Escanaba, and the annual Michigan National Guard troop review at Grayling before flying south.

PROMOTED: Lake Michigan college administrators, William Hessel (left) and Ralph Stutzman, today were promoted to the rank of dean in a first step toward filling key administrative positions in the college's reorganized administrative structure. Dr. Walter F. Browe, LMC executive vice president, said Hessel moves from head librarian to dean of library and learning resources. Stutzman advances from director of evening college to dean of evening college. Hessel joined the LMC staff in 1957 and Stutzman became a faculty member in 1964.

Salary Increases Of $200 Given By Allegan Board

ALLEGAN — Amid predictions of financial trouble in the near future, Allegan county commissioners Thursday approved the shortest salaries report on record for 1973.

The county operations committee recommended a flat $200 increase for every county officer and employee, excepting board members themselves who will receive no increase. The report was approved with only a few dissenting votes.

Finance committee chairman Grover Grigsby said that even with such a small cost-of-living increase, the extra payroll would consume "about half" of the county's expected increase in revenue next year. The county had a $21 million increase in state equalized valuation this year.

Grigsby warned that the county faces financial problems next year. The half-million dollar cash surplus of a few years ago now stands at less than $25,000, he said, adding "We could have some payless paydays."

Negotiations between county board representatives and sheriff's office employees are "getting nowhere," according to county operations chairman Francis Cronen. "If it becomes necessary to go to forced arbitration — a very real possibility — we might find ourselves in a deficit financing position, if a court says the deputies should get what they're asking for," he said.

Suggestions that the board should consider asking for additional millage at the November election gained no support, however.

In other action, commissioners approved a motion by Louis TerAvest, of Allegan township, authorizing chairman Jerry Lohman to join with David Mohr, chairman of the road commission, in issuing a plea to political candidates in last Tuesday's election to remove all posters fastened to poles and trees in county road right-of-ways. The statement points out that such posters are in violation of state law.

Cronen was instructed to determine if it is the intent of the State Department of Social Services to continue paying its share of the rent on welfare offices in the county-owned annex on Chestnut street. The board had been notified that rent would cease July 1, if no action was taken on obtaining additional space for welfare department needs.

Cronen said his committee feels that the board's action in offering to purchase the former Allegan junior high school building last month should be construed favorably by the state agency. Treasurer James Boyce said the next semi-annual rent payment from the state is not due until December.

Commissioner Robert Drew, of Clyde township, noted that if the state has cut off rent payments "we should start eviction proceedings right now."

Kenneth Rynbrandt, chairman of the social services committee, said the report on the food stamp program would not be complete until the September meeting of the boards and urged members to postpone until then taking up a previously tabled motion calling for an end to the program in the county.

Coloma Delivery Changed

COLOMA — The daily delivery schedules of Coloma mail carriers will be set back about one hour starting Saturday, Aug. 19, by changes in bulk mail deliveries from the Kalamazoo sectional mail center, Coloma Postmaster Gordon Young has announced.

The change in deliveries from Kalamazoo is being made by the postal service for the sake of economy, Young said. The number of deliveries to and dispatches from the Coloma post office will be reduced to one a day, Young said.

The hours of window service in the lobby will not change, Young said, but hours the lobby doors will be open will be reduced.

Coloma's morning delivery of mail will arrive at the post office at 7:30 rather than 6:30 a.m. after Aug. 19, and the only dispatch of the day will leave the office at 5 p.m. To make the dispatch, mail must be in the post office by 4:45, Young said.

Lobby doors will be unlocked at 7 a.m. and locked at 5 p.m., Young said.

Spassky's Stock Sags After Loss To Challenger

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Defending world chess champion Boris Spassky of the Soviet Union trails American Bobby Fischer 5-0 and his stock is sagging.

Fischer, looking more and more like the next champion, defeated Spassky Friday in the 13th game of the 24-game series. They meet Sunday in the 14th.

The 29-year-old Brooklyn challenger needs only 4½ more points to capture Spassky's crown while the Russian needs another 7 to keep it. A win counts one point, a draw half a point.

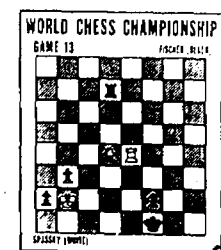

Fischer could become the new champ with a run of draws. But Spassky is so far behind he would have to win three games just to pull even.

Spassky had the advantage of opening with the white pieces Friday. But by the time they adjourned Thursday night it appeared he would be lucky to get a draw.

Spassky played aggressively after resumption, but on the 6th move he made what some grandmasters regarded as a blunder.

Fischer forced him to resign five moves later, after a total playing time of 9½ hours.

Spassky, looking dejected, sat down at the chessboard on stage after the game, replaying the fatal 6th move as most experts agreed he should have done during the game.

SPASSKY RESIGNS: Diagram shows position after 72nd move, as World Chess Champion Boris Spassky of the Soviet Union resigned the 13th game, giving U.S. challenger Bobby Fischer an 8-6 lead in the 24-game series. A Decatur man owing $3,760 for support of two Berrien county children on ADC was sentenced this week in Berrien circuit court to serve four months in jail.

Judge Chester J. Byrns sentenced Ronald Smith, of Route 1, Decatur, and placed him on two years probation for being in contempt of court by falling behind in his child support payments.

A wage assignment for $20 in weekly support plus $10 weekly for the arrearage was also part of the sentence, George Westfield, Berrien friend of court, reported.

Upon release from jail, Smith has 60 days to find a job or face further court action, Westfield added.

'FRIEND' SOUGHT Nearly $500 Stolen From Woman's Purse

BERRIEN SPRINGS — A man who is believed to have stolen about $500 from a woman who befriended him is being sought for questioning by Berrien county sheriff's deputies.

Sgt. Charles Tiefenbach, commander of Galien substation, said the woman, Mildred Halton, 37, of Rose Hill road, Berrien Springs, reported the money was taken early Thursday morning.

She reportedly told police she had cashed social security and ADC checks in the afternoon, and had met the man that night at the Topper bar in Berrien Springs. He asked her for a ride home, and she complied, leaving him at a cabin on US 31, south of the village.

Police said when Mrs. Halton arrived at her home, she discovered her purse, containing $473, missing from the car.

Police later found the missing purse near the cabin, containing $12. The man was not located.
